to your forgotten financial drain

THE Problem

Forgotten subscriptions are one of the main causes of financial drain in households. They blend very well into bank statements, making it easy to forget about subscriptions or payment plans you no longer desire to have. This forces you into paying over $130 monthly in subscriptions, and over $1,000 annually. If you want to avoid becoming this person or stop being this person, this app is for you

My Solution

After vigorous research and talking to people with this problem I decided to come up with “TargetIT”. TargetIT is an app that will help you manage your subscriptions along with your monthly/annual expenses. It will include features such as sending weekly/monthly reminders to tap on the app and sort through all subscriptions. It will have a button that cancels any unwanted features at one time. It will also remind you when the money is due, along with the amount. It will keep track of all expenses for you, and will include a lock card option. Meaning that no subscription will be able to be paid until unlocked.

THE MARKET OPPORTUNITY

$557.7 billion, the subscription rate is growing more and more each year which creates a large demand for defense mechanisms.

Cancel Button, perfect option for a quick and easy fix to the hidden financial drain
